Whooping Cough.
I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house. - J. L. Moore, South Burnettown, Pa. For sale by all druggists.

Shelton-Howe.
One of the prettiest weddings El Paso has seen lately took place last night at the First Presbyterian church, when Miss Shirley and Mr. Walter Howe were married.
The body of the church was festooned with garlands of green, with white and yellow having a conspicuous part in the decorations by way of relief. In the front of the church there was a large curtain of green picked out with white roses, over which was a shield with the monogram "S. H." in white and yellow.
The church was crowded by the time the bride and groom appeared. Mr. Howe came with his best man, a friend, and a groom, accompanied by Messrs. Lawton, Henry Carpenter, Edgar Shelton, Joseph Williams and William Brown. All the men were in evening dress, with white shirts and ties.
Then followed the bridesmaids, Misses Leila T. Umbell, Florance Bell, and Mary Louise together, then Misses Kate Moore and Nancy Head. The bridesmaids wore low necked gowns of pale yellow organdy over burnt orange, with many lovely ruffles across the front, edged with purple baby ribbon.
Following the bridesmaids came the maid of honor, Miss Ethel Shelton, sister of the bride, wearing a gown of white organdy with yellow ribbon. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
The lovely bride, leaning on her father's arm, came in then. Her beautiful wedding gown was of cream colored satin, with a train and a veil of tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
The service was pronounced in a clear voice by Rev. Mr. Moore. While Mrs. Voss played the wedding music. After the ceremony the bride and groom were escorted to the altar by the bridesmaids and a number of intimate friends were entertained at the home of the bride's parents.
The residence was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the bride and groom were seated under a canopy of living green, and gracefully received her many friends. Refreshments were served in the dining room. The table was decorated with white and yellow flowers. The wedding presents were displayed in another room. There were many very costly and beautiful gifts, including a chest of silver, hand painted china, bronzes, cut glass, and linen. Misses Maggie Martin and Alma Jones served lemonade punch on the veranda. The evening was most pleasantly spent, and the party did not disperse until a late hour.

The traffic managers of the south western lines are in session in Chicago today, and the suggestion is that the cutting of rates will be stopped, and the rates restored and made more binding.

Yesterday while the HERALD's men were on his rounds he called at the office of General Manager Gregg to see what was going on up the road. When he went in Mr. Gregg held up a number of telegrams and said, "Look at this." On being asked what they were he said, "They are bids on lots in our town of Alamogordo. This was quite a surprise to us as we are not going to try to have a boom up there, for we don't want one; what we want is a steadily growing town." The reporter asked if those messages would be given any preference over the others. Mr. Gregg said he was informed that they would not, that every one would have a fair chance to buy on June 7th.

Human Contrariness.
"Wonderful how a sense of duty interferes with what had before been a pleasure and a luxury," remarked a third avenue man to his doctor the other day. "When strawberries were first on the market and selling at Havana prices, my folks just couldn't do without them, and when they were in plenty right up to a week ago."
"What brought about the change?"
"You did. When I told you that my wife and three girls were all feeling a little under the weather, you said that it was due to the changeable spring, and among other things to do me to give them plenty of strawberries, mentioned to them, and from that time to this they have regarded strawberries as a medicine. One quart was on the table for three meals and then my wife had them stewed to prevent their spoiling. Still they did not get on and the winter came. I finally disposed of them at one sitting. I'll bet if you had said that they'd better leave strawberries alone they would have eaten half a bushel a day." - Detroit Free Press.

She Paralyzed 'Em.
Counsel: "What is your age, madam?"
Witness: "Forty-seven, sir."
Counsel: "Married or single?"
Witness: "Single. I never had an offer of marriage in my life, and I am of any interest to the court. I don't mind saying that I have worn false hair for nearly 30 years."
Counsel: "Hem! That is all, madam. There is no use trying to make the direct testimony of so truthful a woman as you are." - Tit-Bits.

The mystery of life and death has puzzled many a wise man. The alchemists of old searched in vain for some combination of drugs that would prolong life indefinitely. Science, chemistry, and medical science have combined in this age to show man the way to a long and healthy life.
Common sense teaches that a man should not over-work or over-worry; that he should take ample time for his meals, and for recreation and sleep; that he should not neglect the little ills of life, because they are the precursors of serious and fatal maladies. Chemistry has enabled men to make combinations of drugs that were impossible in the days of the alchemists. Medical science has taught when, how, and why these combinations of drugs should be used. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the most valuable of all health-restoring medicines, and has improved its first work is upon the fountain-head of life—the stomach. A man who has a weak and impure stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is impoverished and insufficiently nourished. This medicine makes the stomach strong, facilitates the digestion of food, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.
It does not make dainty fat, but solid, muscular flesh, nerve force and vital energy. All medicine dealers sell it.
J. W. Jordan, of Cortin, Whitley Co., Ky., writes: "About two and a half years ago I was taken with severe pains in the chest, back and side, and was unable to get on my feet.
